Having it happen to help it happen.

ASSIGNMENTS

- Readings Required text and all in-class readings will be completed so that full participation in class is both possible and productive.
- Resources Google docs record of resources for various arts and somatic therapies.
- Final demonstration In-class portrayal or participatory exercise in one area of therapeutic body/mind Practice.
- Body/Mind Tool Box Written and otherwise visually expressed summaries of all class activities will be presented for information sharing and peer review. Summary in the form of therapeutic guidelines and strategies will be submitted at close of class.

ATTENDANCE

The success of this class depends on your attendance. In that way attendance in addition to being fully engaged in the course is the most important assignment and expectation of this class. The material we’re working with is potentially discomfoting. It will be different for each of us. It is vital that we create an environment that allows us to go as deeply as we can into the subject matter in the simultaneously public and structured format of a graduate class. My assumption is that you are here because you want this opportunity and are sincere in your wish to be of help to people who are struggling with their sexuality.

EVALUATION

I will evaluate you on these areas based on your class participation, your assignment completion and quality. Your papers will receive evaluations of CREDIT or NO-CREDIT. If you disagree with an assessment I have made or if you wish to improve your evaluation, you may resubmit an assignment once.

If you have elected to take this course for a grade, the options are ‘A’ or ‘C’. An A will result from completion of all assignments, full participation in the course, and engagement of the ideas and questions posed by this class. If you have elected a pass/no pass option, passing the course will result from the same criteria as earning a grade of A.
