CATALOG DESCRIPTION
Application of research design methods and findings to systems/relational therapy. Focus on drawing conclusions from a body of literature related to clinical practice, identifying a specific research question, and developing a research proposal. Emphasis on the links between the context within which research is conducted and implications for socially responsible practice.

Prerequisite: MCFT 530
Credits: 1 semester unit.

MCFT STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES
This course promotes the following student learning outcomes:

SLO 3.1 Students are able to discern the implications of the sociopolitical context within which research is produced and applied.

SLO 3.2 Students draw on the research literature relevant to family therapy in case planning.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
Course objectives are derived from the AAMFT core competencies as noted.
As a result of this course students will:

1. Apply understanding of research design methodologies to clinical issues in the practice of marriage, couple, and family therapy (CC 6.1.2)

2. Demonstrate how to utilize research to inform marital, couple, and therapy. (CC6.3.2)
3. Recognize opportunities for therapists and clients to participate in clinical research. (CC 6.2.1)

4. Evaluate the sociopolitical implications of proposed research design and implications for socially responsible practice. (6.1.3)
REQUIRED TEXTS

SUPPLEMENTARY TEXTS:

COURSE STRUCTURE

Students work in groups to design a research proposal pertaining to an issue relevant to family therapy. All class members will also serve as a peer review panel for other proposals. In class meetings groups will identify design issues and serve as consultants to each other. The final class meeting will be a mini-conference in which each groups presents their final proposal.

ASSIGNMENTS AND EVALUATION

1. Participation (20 points)

   Every student is responsible for coming to class prepared to participate in a meaningful discussion, to fully participate as a group member, and to engage in the feedback process with other groups. Participation will be evaluated according to the following criteria.

2. Mini Proposal (50 points)

A proposal is a detailed description of a study designed to investigate a given problem. Your group will (a) select a clinical issue that interests you, (b) review the related literature on this topic, (c) identify a research question that will help advance practice in the area, (d) design a research proposal that details the rationale and methodology for the study, (e) describe the ethical and sociopolitical issues involved, and (f) address how the study findings will be applicable in practice, as well as the limitations.

Your group will submit a written proposal (10-15 pages double-spaced) and make a 15-20 minute powerpoint presentation. Each person in your group is expected to participate equally and fully in the completion of this project. However, that does not mean that each person must participate equally in each aspect of the task. Working out an equitable distribution of work is part of the process for your group.

The proposal should include:
- A research question and brief summary of the literature and how the study will contribute to the field
- A explanation of your method and why it is appropriate to answer the research question (be sure to include references to literature regarding the methodology)
- Your sample and methods for collecting the data
- How analysis will be done
- How you will address issues of validity (i.e., trustworthiness and credibility) and transferability. (Cite references)
- The ethical and sociopolitical issues related to your study and their implications for the type of findings (results) your study will and will not be able to generate
- How study findings will be applicable to the family therapy field and limitations.

The proposal will be evaluated according to the following rubric.

Peer Review (30 points)
This assignment has two components. One component is to be finished individually and the other component will be finished in your research group. Format for the review will be provided in class.

Individual task: You will peer review another group’s proposal making comments and offering feedback.

Group task: During class time you will be given time to meet as a group. As a group you will discuss your comments and feedback.

CPSY DEPARTMENTAL ATTENDANCE POLICY

Class attendance is expected and required. Any missed class time will be made up by completing extra assignments designed by the instructor. Missing more than ten percent of class time may result in failure to complete the class. This would be 4.5 hours of a 45 hour class (3 credits), 3.0 hours for a 30 hour class (2 credits) or 1.5 hours for a 15 hour class (1 credit.) In case of extreme hardship and also at the discretion of the instructor, a grade of incomplete may be given for an assignment or the entire course. In such cases, the work to be submitted in order to remove the incomplete must be documented appropriately and stated deadlines met. Students are expected to be on time to class and tardiness maybe seen as an absence that requires make-up work.

SPECIAL ASSISTANCE/ACCOMMODATIONS

If you have a disability that may impact your academic performance, you may request accommodations by submitting documentation to the Student Support Services Office in the Albany Quadrangle (503-768-7192). After you have submitted documentation and filled out paperwork there for the current semester requesting accommodations, staff in that office will notify me of the accommodations for which you are eligible.

CELL PHONES

Cell phones must be silenced and text messaging is not allowed during class time. If there is an emergency that requires your immediate attention, please exit the class to use your cell.
