Catalog Description: This class provides an overview of the major theories and models for the etiology of addictive behaviors and recovery from those behaviors. Special emphasis is placed upon the critical evaluation of biological predispositions, psychological factors, socialization processes, and spiritual influences implicated in the development of addictive behaviors and recovery. Additionally, risk and resiliency factors that mediate and moderate the intergenerational transmission of addiction, sociocultural factors, effects on the psychosocial development, and the impact of culture and gender differences will be examined. The successful integration, adaptation, and application of a working model of addiction/recovery into the counseling setting are the ultimate goal for each student.

Academic dishonesty or cheating involves the use of any method or technique enabling a student to misrepresent the quality or source of their academic study, scholarship, or field practice. Academic dishonesty with respect to written or other types of assignments includes, but is not limited to: failure to acknowledge the ideas or words of another that have consciously been taken from a source, published or unpublished; placing one’s name on papers, reports, or other documents that are the work of another individual, whether published or unpublished; flagrant misuse of the assistance provided by another in the process of completing academic work; submission of the same paper or project for separate courses without prior authorization by the faculty in both courses; fabrication or alteration of data; and knowingly facilitating the academic dishonesty of another. Academic dishonesty with respect to intellectual property includes but is not limited to theft, alteration, or destruction of the academic work of other members of the community, or of the educational resources, materials, or official documents of the institution.

Students in the Graduate School of Education and Counseling are also required to meet the standards of professional conduct appropriate to their field of study. For the full Student Professional Conduct Policy, please follow this link: http://docs.lclark.edu/graduate/policyprocedures/academic/

Assignments:

1) Personal Reflection Paper: Current Working Model of Addiction & Recovery (20 points)

Due September 26th by 11:59 p.m via email to instructor. You will write a reflection paper outlining your current view/model of addiction that aligns with how you view addiction and recovery (4-6 pages double spaced in APA format). The theories that will be covered in the Lassiter (2018) text are: Moral Theory, Developmental Theory, Cognitive Behavioral Theories, Attachment Theory and Sociological Theory. Other theories include: Addictive Disease Model, Behavioral/Environmental Model, Academic Model, Diathesis-Stress Theory of Addiction (covered in Uppers, Downers and All Arounders text); and the Biopsychosocial Model which is covered in the text, A Contemporary Approach to Substance Use Disorders and Addictions Counseling, and is available to read online through the Watzek library. You will need to choose ONE of these theories to help guide this paper. You will need to cover the following elements in your reflection paper so please have a heading for each section of your paper as follows:

a. How I View Addiction: Do you think addiction is a disease? How can physiological dimensions of addiction influence or direct a psychotherapeutic/counseling treatment of addiction? Is addiction a “crisis of self?”

b. What Informs How I View Addiction: How are concerns about personal identity, first-hand, subjective experience, individual history, relevant in addiction treatment? Is addiction relational? How are relationships and interpersonal dynamics connected to addiction? Is addiction cultural? How are culture, sub culture, experience of culture and cultural oppression related to addiction?

c. What is recovery? How is recovery different than addiction? Or is it? If comfortable, please share any personal experience you or those close to you have or have had with addiction and recovery.

*This is a reflection paper so it does not need to be researched in depth rather it is a reflection of your current view on addiction and recovery. You can use the class texts to help inform your decision as well as your own personal experiences and views and other reading/educational material you have access to.

2) Group Movie Presentation

(35 points)

Due October 24\(^{th}\) in class. Your group (4 people) will choose a movie from the list provided, or another movie that must be approved by the instructor in advance and everyone in the group must watch the movie in order to be able to provide multiple perspectives to the case conceptualization. Each group must choose a different movie for this presentation. Your group will show a maximum of 10 minutes of the movie to the class during your presentation to give the class an idea of what the client is experiencing. Your presentation will be 45 minutes in length. If you do not present for 45 minutes you will lose points on the assignment. You will present the case as if the character from the movie is your client. You can be as creative as you wish with this assignment, which means you can add to the movie or put a spin on it. Your presentation must be presented in a Prezi or PowerPoint format when presenting to the class and it must cover the following items:

a. An overview of the model of addiction & recovery you are presenting on as if the class has never heard of this model before. You will want to cover the model in-depth

b. How you are conceptualizing the client’s addiction based on the model of addiction you are presenting on: What does this theory say about addiction in general, what about the specific addiction the character is experiencing?, convince the audience that this theoretical model is the best one for this character’s case (rationale). What does your model say about recovery? Where do you think the client is at in terms of their addiction (stage of change) and recovery (if applicable)
c. What theoretical orientation do you think will work best with this client for treatment purposes & what is your rationale for this? Does this theory/modality align with the model of addiction & recovery you have chosen? Why or why not?
d. A list of resources about your model of addiction & recovery for the class. This can be provided in a handout or on a slide in your presentation
e. DSM 5 diagnosis and rationale if your model suggests a diagnosis and if not please provide a rationale of why you are excluding this in your presentation
f. A minimum of 3 interventions you will try will this client (psychoeducation, behavioral interventions, etc.

g. Interactive/Experiential Learning Activity (Optional)-Your group may choose to include this in your presentation but it is not required, just another option if you all want to be creative in this assignment

The following movies are acceptable for this assignment:

- 28 Days
- The Basketball Diaries
- Trainspotting
- Clean and Sober
- When a Man Loves a Woman
- Gia
- Blow
- Thirteen
- Requiem for a Dream
- Flight
- Barfly

*Your group may choose a different movie but it must be approved by the instructor before selection

3) Final Thematic Paper: Refined Theory of Addiction
   (30 points)

Due December 5th at 11:59 p.m. emailed to your instructor. This is your final paper (after you have taken the entire course and have learned more about different models of addiction and recovery). Please reflect on your current working model as stated at the beginning of the term and, holding in mind materials presented during the course by the instructor and your colleagues, delineate your refined theory of addiction as you move forward in your professional development. Answer some of the same questions you did in your initial reflection paper, citing theoretical and cultural approaches reviewed during the course that are of particular influence to you. The idea is to refine, condense and articulate your new working model with the new material you have learned throughout the course.

Papers should be double spaced, between 7 and 10 pages in APA format. Papers are due by 11:59 p.m. on December 5th.

4) Attendance & Class Participation
(15 points)

Class attendance is expected and required. Completing extra assignments designed by the instructor (10 page extensive research paper) will make up any missed class time. Missing more than ten percent of class time may result in failure to complete the class. This would be 4.5 hours of a 45 hour class (3 credits), 3.0 hours for a 30 hour class (2 credits) or 1.5 hours for a 15 hour class (1 credit.) In case of extreme hardship, and also at the discretion of the instructor, a grade of incomplete may be given for an assignment or the entire course. In such cases, the work to be submitted in order to remove the incomplete must be documented appropriately and stated deadlines met. Students are expected to be on time to class and tardiness may be seen as an absence that requires make-up work.

Class Participation:

Participation in class discussions and in the skills practice segments of this course is essential for your learning and the learning of other students. Your participation during discussion and groups will be evaluated based on its frequency and quality.

Course Evaluations:

Instructors must require students to complete course evaluations during class time following established guidelines of the Graduate School of Education and Counseling.
