SPSY 510: Ethical and Legal Issues in School Psychology
Course Syllabus Fall 2021

Instructor:

Elena Lilles Diamond, PhD, NCSP
Office Phone: 503-768-6057
Email: ediamond@lclark.edu
Office: Rogers 335
Office Hours: by appointment

Course Calendar:

This course is scheduled to have 10 class sessions beginning Monday September 13, 2021. Class will meet Monday mornings from 9:00am-12:00pm. See page 8 for schedule.

This class will be taught with both synchronous and asynchronous learning opportunities. Synchronous learning (e.g., class discussion) will take place in York 115. In the event the synchronous components need to move online the instructor will provide the zoom link to access class on the course moodle site. Asynchronous learning (e.g., prerecorded class lectures) will be available on the class moodle website and subsequent links to google drive.

Catalogue Description: Consideration of the applicable ethical and legal issues for school psychologists in mental health and school settings. Students develop skills in counseling, consultation, assessment, and intervention planning.

Course Objectives:

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Recognize professional, ethical, moral, and legal issues present in the field of school psychology
2. Distinguish between laws, professional ethics, rules, values, and personal beliefs
3. Reference and apply professional ethical codes and principles (APA, NASP), laws (IDEA, FERPA, OARs), and guidelines relevant to the field of school psychology
4. Discuss the steps to ethical decision making and utilize an ethical decision-making model to identify a defensible course of action when faced with an ethical dilemma in professional practice

Tech Requirements:

The main learning platforms for this class will include Moodle and Zoom. Moodle will be used as the primary course site and is where students will access learning modules and all course materials. Log in to moodle.lclark.edu using your Lewis & Clark ID to access our class. Zoom will be used for synchronous class sessions. A link to the class meeting on Zoom will be provided in Moodle.

If you have questions about accessing and using Moodle, visit Lewis & Clark's Moodle Resources page. Moodle and tech support is also available by email at ITservice@lclark.edu or by phone at 503-768-7225. If you call, leave a message and they will call you back.

For help and troubleshooting with Zoom, visit the Zoom Help Center: <https://support.zoom.us/hc/en-us>

If you face Internet access challenges: Some companies are offering free or discounted access during this time. To learn more about options visit Information Technology's Learning Remotely website.

Course Requirements:

Participation (30 points)

Active participation is essential to the success of this class, and the impact the course will have on students. Students are expected to engage with all asynchronous course materials (e.g., recorded class lectures), and complete all respective assignments prior to each class session. Students are expected to attend, and actively engage in all synchronous class sessions (e.g., live discussions), and come prepared to participate with assignments completed.

In the event that a student is unable to attend a class session, they are asked to notify the instructor prior to class (or as soon as they are able to, following the missed class). If class is missed, the student will reach out to the instructor for an alternate assignment. If two classes are missed, the student will be at risk of not passing the class.

Assignments:

Ethics Autobiography (30 points)

Students will write a paper in which they reflect on, and describe, their current (at the start of the term) personal values and thoughts about developing professional ethics. Students should reflect on their own state of moral and ethical development as they answer the following prompts within their paper: (1) What personal values do you hold? (2) Where do these values come from and how have they developed over time? (3) After reading the NASP and APA ethical codes, identify one or more specific standards that conflict (or have the potential to conflict) with your current personal values and describe the conflict, (4) Describe one or more challenges you expect to encounter as you begin to integrate personal values and professional ethics in your desired professional practice setting. The paper should be approximately 3 pages, double-spaced, with formatting consistent with APA style guidelines. The paper should be submitted to moodle prior to the start of class the week it is due.

Component	Possible Points	Points Earned	Comments
Personal values • Key personal values are identified summarized	5
Development of values • Summarizes where values came from • Summarizes how values have developed over time	5
Conflict with ethics and values • References one or more specific standards that may conflict with values and describes the conflict	5
Expected challenges • Describes one or more anticipated challenges with integrating personal values and professional ethics in school-based setting	10
Professional Writing • Paper is clear and concise and free of spelling and grammar errors	5

Case Law Presentation (30 points)

Students will sign up to present on a seminal legal case. A link to the sign up form can be found on moodle. For the presentation, each student will prepare a 10-minute (approximate) video that covers information as outlined in the rubric below. In addition to the video, students will prepare a 1-page handout that classmates can use as a reference tool in the future. Both video and handout will be submitted to a google drive folder via a link available on moodle. When naming the video prior to uploading, please name/save with the title of the case (or an abbreviated title for long case names) and your last name. E.g. “Brown v Board of Education-Diamond” as this will help others find and view the video. Videos are due on moodle by Thursday September 23.

Topical Presentation (50 points)

Students will work in small groups to develop and deliver a 30-minute topical presentation related to professional ethics. A selection of topics will be provided by the instructor. Students will review current literature on the topic (e.g., book chapters, journal articles, case law, etc.) and develop a presentation that supplements the course readings and deepens classmates’ knowledge of the topic. In other words, the presentation may not simply cover material from the textbook or required readings. The presentation should provide a brief overview of the major legal and ethical issues relevant to your topic, explain how specific ethical codes, laws, and/or professional guidelines are relevant to your topic, and discuss at least two examples (e.g., vignettes, court cases, historic or personal examples) of how the issues may arise in professional practice. Below is an assignment rubric with more details. All group members are expected to contribute equally and will receive the same grade on the project.

In addition to the presentation, a final copy of presentation PowerPoint slides should be submitted to the google drive folder (link available on moodle site). When naming the slides prior to uploading, please name/save with the title of the presentation/topic and your last name. E.g. “Discipline Practices-Diamond” as this will help others find and view the slides.

Component	Possible Points	Points Earned	Comments
Clear overview of the topic <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What is the issue and why is it important? • Throughout presentation, reference relevant ethical codes, laws, principles 	10

Weekly Vignette Group Notes (x4) (10 points each)

Students will be given a vignette outlining an ethical dilemma. Students will use the DECIDE decision-making model (See Diamond et al., 2021 and/or class notes for a copy of the model) to problem-solve the vignette prior to class. During class students will meet with in small groups to discuss the vignette, share notes, and prepare a response to share out to the class. The group will also upload their group notes to moodle including notes for each step of the vignette and any resources used to guide their decision (e.g., position statements, websites, legal guidance, etc.). Notes can be bulleted summaries from the group discussion (you do not need to turn in each individual’s notes). The assignment is due via moodle following class the day it is due/discussed in class.

Problem-Solving Model (x3) (50 points each)

Students will be given a vignette outlining an ethical dilemma. Students will use the DECIDE decision-making model (See Diamond et al., 2021 and/or class notes for a copy of the model) to outline legal and ethical issues. The write up should be thorough, free of grammar and spelling errors, and address appropriate legal and ethical considerations. Below is an assignment rubric with more details. The assignment is due via moodle prior to class the day it is due.

Final (50 points)

Students will complete a final exam at the end of the term. The final is due by the end of the last day of class.

Grading:

Each of the assignments or grading areas has been given a maximum point value and some general evaluation criteria. Your grade for the course will be based on the total number of points you earn, in connection with the following breakdown of 100% of possible points:

99-100:	A+	79-82.9:	B-
94-98.9:	A	76-78.9:	C+
91-93.9:	A-	73-75.9:	C
87-90.9:	B+	70-72.9:	C-
83-86.9:	B	< 70:	F

Regarding timeliness of assignments, it is expected that all work will be completed and turned in on the assigned due dates. Points will be deducted for late work (-10% per calendar day late), unless negotiated with the instructor in advance of the due date. As instructor of this course, I reserve the right to establish absolute dates beyond which late work will not be accepted. I will be reasonable in these matters in the event of illness or related significant personal matters that may require submitting work late. Incompletes will be given only under special circumstances, in accordance with Lewis & Clark policy.

Non-discrimination policy and special assistance:

Lewis & Clark College adheres to a nondiscriminatory policy. The College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, sex, national origin, age, handicap or disability, sexual orientation, or marital status and has a firm commitment to promote the letter and spirit of all equal opportunity and civil rights laws. If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability and/or you have emergency medical information to share, please make an appointment with the instructor as soon as possible

If you have a disability that may impact your academic performance, you may request accommodations by submitting documentation to the Student Support Services Office in the Albany Quadrangle (503-768-7192). After you have submitted documentation and filled out paperwork there for the current semester requesting accommodations, staff in that office will notify me of the accommodations for which you are eligible. Because our course delivery will be online this summer, it is particularly important that you talk to me soon about accommodations and needs.

During this summer term, Student Support Services continues to be available via email (access@lclark.edu) or by phone (503-768-7192). While they are not answering the phone directly, if you call and leave a message, they will call you back. You can also make an appointment on line via their website: (www.lclark.edu/offices/student_support_services/). Appointments will be conducted either by phone or Zoom.
