Fall 2022 Schedule

Class Title & Instructor	Date & Time
EDAD 527: Advocacy, Communication, and Inclusive Leadership for Engaging Community Instructor: Lisa Collins, Ed.D. Course Description: Equity-oriented district leaders must work collaboratively and inclusively with stakeholders, with a particular focus on partnering effectively and authentically with historically marginalized communities whose voices and perspectives are a vital part of enacting systemic change. District leaders must develop and sustain these partnerships through communicating and enacting an inclusive and equity-focused district mission that values and prioritizes the diverse interests, needs, and resources of the community. District leaders must sustain relationships with district stakeholders through effective, two-way communication that fosters family engagement and allows all community members to learn about and participate in the development of equity-focused work that supports the achievement and well-being of students and staff. District leaders must focus on understanding how community stakeholders are impacted by the social, cultural, economic, legal, and political contexts within districts, as well as provide representation and advocacy, within and outside of the district, for their district's current and future needs.	EDAD 527 is a virtual course with synchronous class meetings and additional asynchronous work. Synchronous class sessions will be conducted via Zoom from 5:00p - 8:15p from T 9/13 through T, 11/15. There will be an additional 15 hours of asynchronous work that will be due on 12/4.
